Note: We would like to reinforce the position that the SPI Diagnostic Surveys are not considered perfect scientific instruments. However, they have been designed to give you many important hints, or indications, of where your congregation (or group) is at, concerning a number of important practices and/or perspectives. Many of these practices and/or perspectives are considered highly pertinent to a congregation (or group) being able to more effectively fight the spiritual battle: a battle we are all engaged in (Ephesians 6:12). The Strategic Prayer Initiative, Inc. reserves the right to use the data from all administrations of the SPI Diagnostic Surveys (in whatever way we see fit). Our use of the survey results may be in the form of results from one particular group or church (in whole or in part), or in larger databases accumulated from multiple churches' and/or groups' data. If the results from a particular group or church are used individually (versus in aggregate) we will not purposely associate the name of the church or group with their survey results. However, we may give the name of a church or a group as part of a list of churches or groups that have been used to create an aggregate report. The Strategic Prayer Initiative, Inc. maintains ownership of all data our surveys generate.
